Here are some of the craziest ride share stories that will make you think twice about getting in a stranger's car:

The Drunk Driver

One woman ordered an Uber after a night out with friends. When the car arrived, she got in and immediately noticed that the driver was drunk. He was slurring his speech and weaving all over the road.

The woman tried to get out of the car, but the driver locked the doors and refused to let her go. She was terrified and didn't know what to do.

Luckily, the woman was able to call 911 and the driver was arrested. She was shaken up but unharmed.

The Creepy Passenger

A man ordered a Lyft to take him home from work. When the car arrived, he got in and sat in the back seat.

The driver started driving and everything seemed fine at first. But then the passenger started making strange noises and moving around in his seat.

The man looked back and saw that the passenger was staring at him with a creepy smile. He asked the passenger to stop, but the passenger just kept staring.

The man was so scared that he jumped out of the car while it was still moving. He ran home and called the police.

The Prank

A group of friends ordered an Uber to take them to a party. When the car arrived, they got in and started joking around.

One of the friends pretended to be drunk and started vomiting all over the car. The other friends laughed and filmed the whole thing.

The driver was not amused. He pulled over and kicked the friends out of the car. The friends were left stranded and had to call another Uber.

The Road Rage

A woman ordered an Uber to take her to work. When the car arrived, she got in and the driver started driving.

As they were driving down the road, another car cut them off. The Uber driver became enraged and started yelling at the other driver.

The other driver got out of his car and started arguing with the Uber driver. The woman was so scared that she got out of the car and called the police.

The Accident

A man ordered an Uber to take him to the airport. When the car arrived, he got in and the driver started driving.

As they were driving down the highway, the Uber driver fell asleep at the wheel. The car drifted off the road and crashed into a tree.

The man was seriously injured and had to be taken to the hospital. The Uber driver was also injured, but not as seriously.

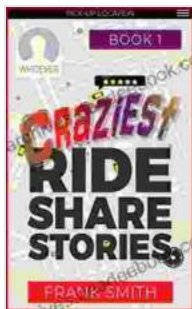

These are just a few of the craziest ride share stories that have been reported. While most ride share experiences are safe and uneventful, there are always some risks involved.

If you're thinking about using a ride share app, be sure to do your research and choose a reputable company. You should also be aware of the risks involved and take steps to protect yourself.

Here are some tips for staying safe when using ride share apps:

- Always order your ride through the app and never get in a car with someone who claims to be an Uber or Lyft driver but doesn't have the app open.
- Check the driver's photo and license plate number before getting in the car.
- Sit in the back seat and keep your doors locked.
- Share your ride details with a friend or family member.
- If you feel unsafe at any time, get out of the car and call 911.

By following these tips, you can help reduce your risk of having a negative ride share experience.
