Completed in 1895, Biltmore House is a magnificent example of Châteauesque architecture, with its towering turrets, intricate carvings, and expansive wings. The interior is equally impressive, boasting 250 rooms adorned with priceless furnishings, artwork, and tapestries. Visitors can explore the grand reception rooms, the opulent bedrooms, and the state-of-the-art kitchens that once served the Vanderbilt family and their guests.

The Gardens of Biltmore

No visit to Biltmore Estate is complete without exploring its breathtaking gardens. Designed by the renowned landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted, the gardens are a masterpiece of horticultural design. From the formal parterre gardens to the woodland trails, there is something to delight and inspire every visitor.

The Walled Garden is a symphony of color and fragrance, with its rows of blooming flowers and its espaliered fruit trees. The Italian Garden, with its cascading fountains and marble statues, evokes the grandeur of the Renaissance. And the Rose Garden, with its hundreds of varieties of roses, is a breathtaking sight to behold.

The gardens of Biltmore Estate are a masterpiece of horticultural design, offering a stunning array of flowers, fountains, and sculptures.

The Biltmore Winery

In addition to its architectural and horticultural wonders, Biltmore Estate is also home to a world-renowned winery. Founded in 1888, the Biltmore Winery was the first commercial winery in the United States. Today, the winery produces a wide variety of award-winning wines, from classic Cabernet Sauvignons to refreshing Pinot Noirs.

Visitors can take a guided tour of the winery, learn about the winemaking process, and sample some of the estate's finest vintages. The winery also offers a variety of wine-related activities, such as wine tastings, wine blending classes, and gourmet food pairings.
