What is Paracord?

Paracord (short for parachute cord) is a lightweight nylon rope that was originally used by the military for parachutes. Today, it is commonly used for a variety of outdoor activities, such as camping, hiking, and fishing.

Paracord is strong, durable, and resistant to rot and mildew, making it an ideal material for crafting.

Materials You'll Need

- Paracord
- Scissors
- Lighter or matches
- Measuring tape or ruler
- Clasps or buckles (optional)

Basic Knots

There are a few basic knots that you'll need to know to make paracord projects. These include:

- Square knot
- Overhand knot
- Surgeon's knot
- Bowline knot

You can find tutorials on how to tie these knots online or in books.

Step-by-Step Instructions for Making a Paracord Bracelet

To make a paracord bracelet, you will need:

- 8 feet of paracord
- Scissors
- Lighter or matches

Follow these steps:

1. Cut four 2-foot pieces of paracord.
2. Tie two of the pieces together using a square knot.
3. Tie the other two pieces together using a square knot.
4. Take the two pairs of knotted paracord and cross them over each other.
5. Take the left cord from the top pair and cross it over the right cord from the bottom pair.
6. Take the right cord from the bottom pair and cross it over the left cord from the top pair.
7. Pull the cords tight to create a square knot.
8. Repeat steps 5-7 until the bracelet is the desired length.
9. Tie the two ends of the bracelet together using a square knot.
10. Trim the excess paracord and melt the ends with a lighter or matches to prevent fraying.

Step-by-Step Instructions for Making a Paracord Belt

To make a paracord belt, you will need:

- 20 feet of paracord
- Scissors
- Lighter or matches
- Buckle

Follow these steps:

1. Cut the paracord into two 10-foot pieces.
2. Tie the two pieces together using a square knot.
3. Tie a second square knot about 6 inches from the first knot.
4. Tie a third square knot about 12 inches from the second knot.
5. Continue tying square knots until the belt is the desired length.
6. Attach the buckle to the end of the belt.
7. Trim the excess paracord and melt the ends with a lighter or matches to prevent fraying.

Step-by-Step Instructions for Making a Paracord Lanyard

To make a paracord lanyard, you will need:

- 10 feet of paracord
- Scissors
- Lighter or matches
- Clasp

Follow these steps:

1. Cut the paracord into two 5-foot pieces.
2. Tie the two pieces together using a square knot.
3. Tie a second square knot about 6 inches from the first knot.

4. Tie a third square knot about 12 inches from the second knot.
5. Continue tying square knots until the lanyard is the desired length.
6. Attach the clasp to the end of the lanyard.
7. Trim the excess paracord and melt the ends with a lighter or matches to prevent fraying.
